Jan Wellmann 3d
Coherent Reality

Subscribe

"They taught you the heart was just a glorified meat pump. That it squeezes and pushes blood like some crude mechanical device. A hydraulic engine made of flesh. That is what they want you to believe. Because if you buy into that primitive lie, you never ask deeper questions.

But it is false. It has always been false. And the real science proves it.

Dr Francisco Torrent-Guasp, a Spanish cardiac researcher, discovered what the textbooks refuse to acknowledge, that the heart is not a pump. He dissected thousands of hearts and found that the heart is a single continuous muscle band, folded into a spiral. He proved the heart works like a vortex generator, creating suction and torque, not pressure.

He called it the Helical Ventricular Myocardial Band and it changes everything.

The real movement of blood comes from pressure differentials, electromagnetic flow, and coherent resonance. The blood spirals naturally. It does not need to be forced through miles of arteries and capillaries. That idea is beyond stupid. The so-called pump is not strong enough to push thick fluid through 60,000 miles of tubing. That is basic physics. That lie was dead on arrival.

Here is the truth. Blood moves before the heart forms in the embryo. It flows via frequency, resonance, and electric charge. The body is a field, not a factory.

Your heart creates a toroidal electromagnetic field that radiates six metres from the body. This field syncs with the Earth, the Sun, and every living being around you. It is a resonator. A tuner. A conductor. It aligns the rhythm of your cells. It feels. It remembers. It emits. And it responds to emotion, thought, light, sound, and breath.

When you feel love, grief, fear, or peace, your heart transmits it. It is the central frequency modulator of your biology. Not a fucking pump.

And the institutions know this. The HeartMath Institute has measured these fields for decades. They know the heart has more neuronal cells than parts of the brain. They know it is a second brain. They know coherence in the heart transforms the entire nervous system.

So why are they still teaching children a 400-year-old guess from William Harvey that has never been updated?

Because if you knew the truth, you would never accept statins or beta blockers again. You would understand that trauma, emotion, and disconnection break the heart field, people who rely on drugs to survive. That is the business model. And the fake heart pump lie is central to it.

Your heart is not a pressure valve. It is a vortex. A field tuner. A resonating gateway between physical and energetic worlds.

It is the instrument of your soul.

And it has been hijacked by science that refuses to evolve."

~ Jamie Freeman

3K 290 743

3,040 Likes · 290 Replies · 743 Restacks Jun 15 at 12:24 PM

Beata 3d

Oh, I'm so glad I checked this post! I skipped it but it came back 😊

❤️ is a central frequency modulator! Wow!

I knew it was about frequency, but had no idea how it exactly worked. I'll read it again for sure. Thank you for sharing this deeply touching information ❤️ participate while others aren't even if part of the same group. Bizarre stuff.

unlimitedhangout.com

Barbara Marx Hubbard: Godmother of Transhumanism and Synthetic Spirituality

98 13 9

Jan Wellmann 3d

Yeah but their hrv meters are powerful when used the right way

10 2

Beata 3d

Maybe, but I always look far into the future at where the tech is going to end up. All evil is guised under the cloak of “good.”

72 6

Ma~Tu Ra 6h

I can confirm that it would most certainly not be a pump.

I eat venison heart , and I prepare it just by unrolling it into what looks just like a piece of steak 🥩

4 1

Jan Wellmann 6h

I do the same w happy cows - they unroll easier than unhappy cows hearts :)

2

Vic Hughes 3d

This is brilliant. Always remember, when people have heart transplants, some talk about the previous owner talking to them. Things the previous owner loved, like classical music, poetry, ballet, Sasha’s art work, etc., become the new owner’s loves. Not only does that tell you the heart is not just a pump, it tells you we are one with the heart of every other human being.

Note

Jennie Fuller 1d

The same is said of other organs as well. My cousin got a pancreas transplant and she has become much more introverted and has a tendency to buy purple items although she never cared for purple before her transplant.

10 2

Arjun 3d

Thomas Cowan came to the same conclusion, his book Cosmic Heart Human Heart, referring to it as something closer to a hydraulic ram.

Feel like the pipes would burst trying to squeeze all that blood through such small tubular structures.

Makes more sense the way you describe

63 3

reante 2d

I think the better analogy is a pulsator, like on a mechanical milking machine. A modulator of blood flow. The chambers are for reoxygenation and vortex restructuring. So it does mechanically induce pressure differentials as with a pump — it is a powerful muscle after all — but it obviously doesn't create and maintain the flow of blood.

We need to be careful not to be reactionary. The heart is partly a pump but it is not primarily a pump.

38 5 2

John1200 2d

“The real movement comes from pressure differentials”. Yes, and that's how pumps work.

52 1 1

Dan Phillips 2d

Yes, it’s a pump. I watched a video on YouTube just now called “Fransisco Torrent-Guasp's New Science of The Helical Heart”. Very interesting, and very

Doc Smith's Jing Palace 3d

Great stuff. All of the organs are understood from a similar sort of electrical perspective within Traditional Chinese Medicine, so this is supported from ancient tried and true practices.

30 2 1

Wonder Verse 2d

Yep. And flow and stagnation are the basic determinants of balanced health.

13 1

Jeremy Poynton 3d

Yup.

Steiner Archive

“The Heart is Not a Pump A Refutation of the Pressure Propulsion Premise of Heart Function by Ralph Marinelli, et. al.”

rsarchive.org

The Heart is Not a Pump — Marinelli, et.al.- Rudolf Steiner Archive

20 3

Franklin O'Kanu 3d

Jan, I feel like you’d like this article I wrote. The heart isn’t a pump but because that’s what they want us to believe, everyone thinks it’s a pump — ultimately feeding their pharma pockets.

We need relearn and rediscover everything because what we’ve been told are lies:

Note

Lies Not Discussed Within The Truth Community

19 1 5

Will Food Forest Permaculture 1d

big Jew pharma that is. Darwin said we are frugivores in what like 1859? but the cattleman's association ain't having that!. logging + ranching make deserts- thousands of years of history prove this. Jews did 911, & 10/7, and had the hutzpah to blame it on "the" Muslims, but since nobody says shit about it, of course they're going to continue to run amok.

archive.org

We Thought They Were White : Dontell Jackson : Free Download, Borrow, and Streaming : Internet Archive

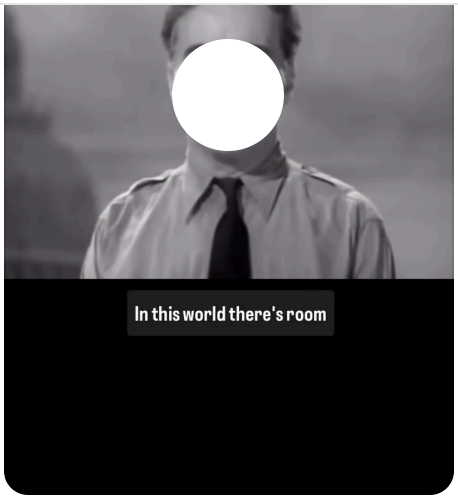
2 1

Show more replies

Related notes

Beverly 4d

Note

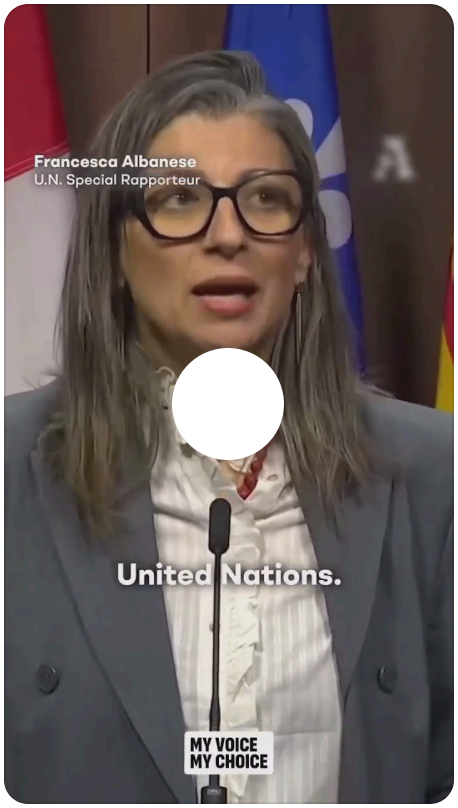


8.8K 169 2.2K

Ayuba Ahmad PS Jun 6

Stupid question. Perfect answer.

Francesca Albanese deserves a Noble Prize.



26.4K 383 3.3K

Note

Log in for more

Or create an account

Login

Create account